THE SAWYER

1945

Published By the Students of Saugerties High School

E. Oberg

Greetings to You, Our Readers

We present to you the 1945 Sawyer.

Except for the year 1943, this is the twenty-first consecutive publication of this annual. (Publication was suspended that year due to lack of materials.) In these pages we try to give you a glimpse of the activities of the young men and women in Saugerties High School—their club life and their extra-class experiences such as sports, plays, debating, after-school relaxations, and the like.

Both last year and this year we have made a sincere effort to include photographs of our young men and women who are now in the armed forces; some of our returning servicemen have told us that they carried last year's book into the foxholes of Europe and the islands of the South Seas. If the possession of this book gives them just a bit of comfort, we shall feel well repaid for our efforts.

We get a lot of fun out of getting this book out for you. We hope you have as much fun in poring over its pages.

Our Art Theme

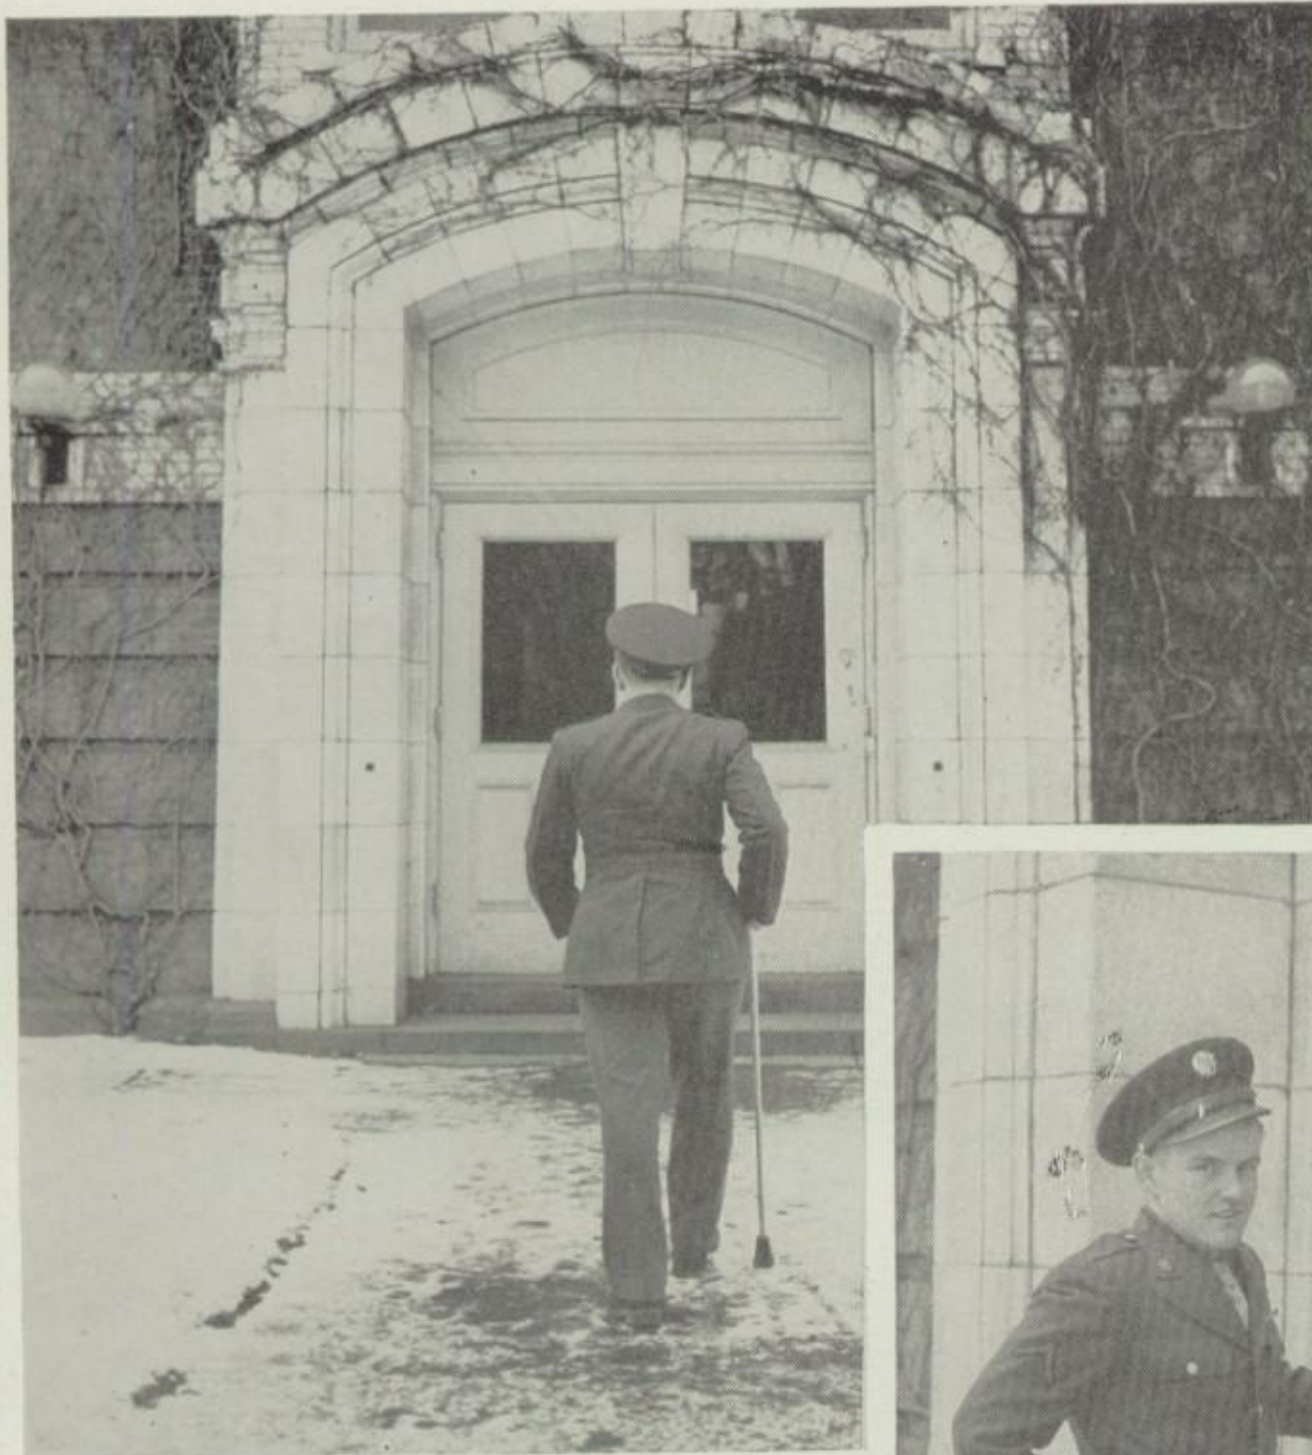

We are using dwarfs this year as our art theme—that doesn't mean that we normally think of our students as dwarfed mentally or physically—it is rather that it gives us a chance to change them a bit.

This experience of picturing some of our folks as dwarfs is a bit like playing with dolls. It has the advantage of renewing our youth and enabling us to renew the youth of some of our young folks. You will observe that we have lengthened the noses on some of them and enlarged the ears. There's fun in doing that; after all, you know, we have to have an art theme—some medium through which we can express the ideas for our pages, and if, as we go along, add a bit of humor in the doing, our pleasure is increased and we hope we haven't detracted from yours.

Don't let these dwarfs cut you down, belittle you, depreciate, shrink, or disparage you.

Wounded Soldier Returns

"Jake" Rogers, who graduated from Saugerties High School in the Class of 1943, comes back to high school for a visit.

Jake is shown going up the old familiar walk to the High School Building.

We wonder what his emotions are as he opens the door.

Wounded in Germany in October, 1944, Rogers is now hospitalized in Martinsburg, West Virginia.

Here he is being greeted by Dr. Grant D. Morse, Superintendent of Schools.

Neil Cox of the Saugerties Hi-Y Club introduces Jake to a noon session of the club which the soldier is scheduled to address.

The students crowd around Jake to learn of his experiences overseas.

The Sawyer is 5/6 a Saugerties Product

MORE THAN BUGLES

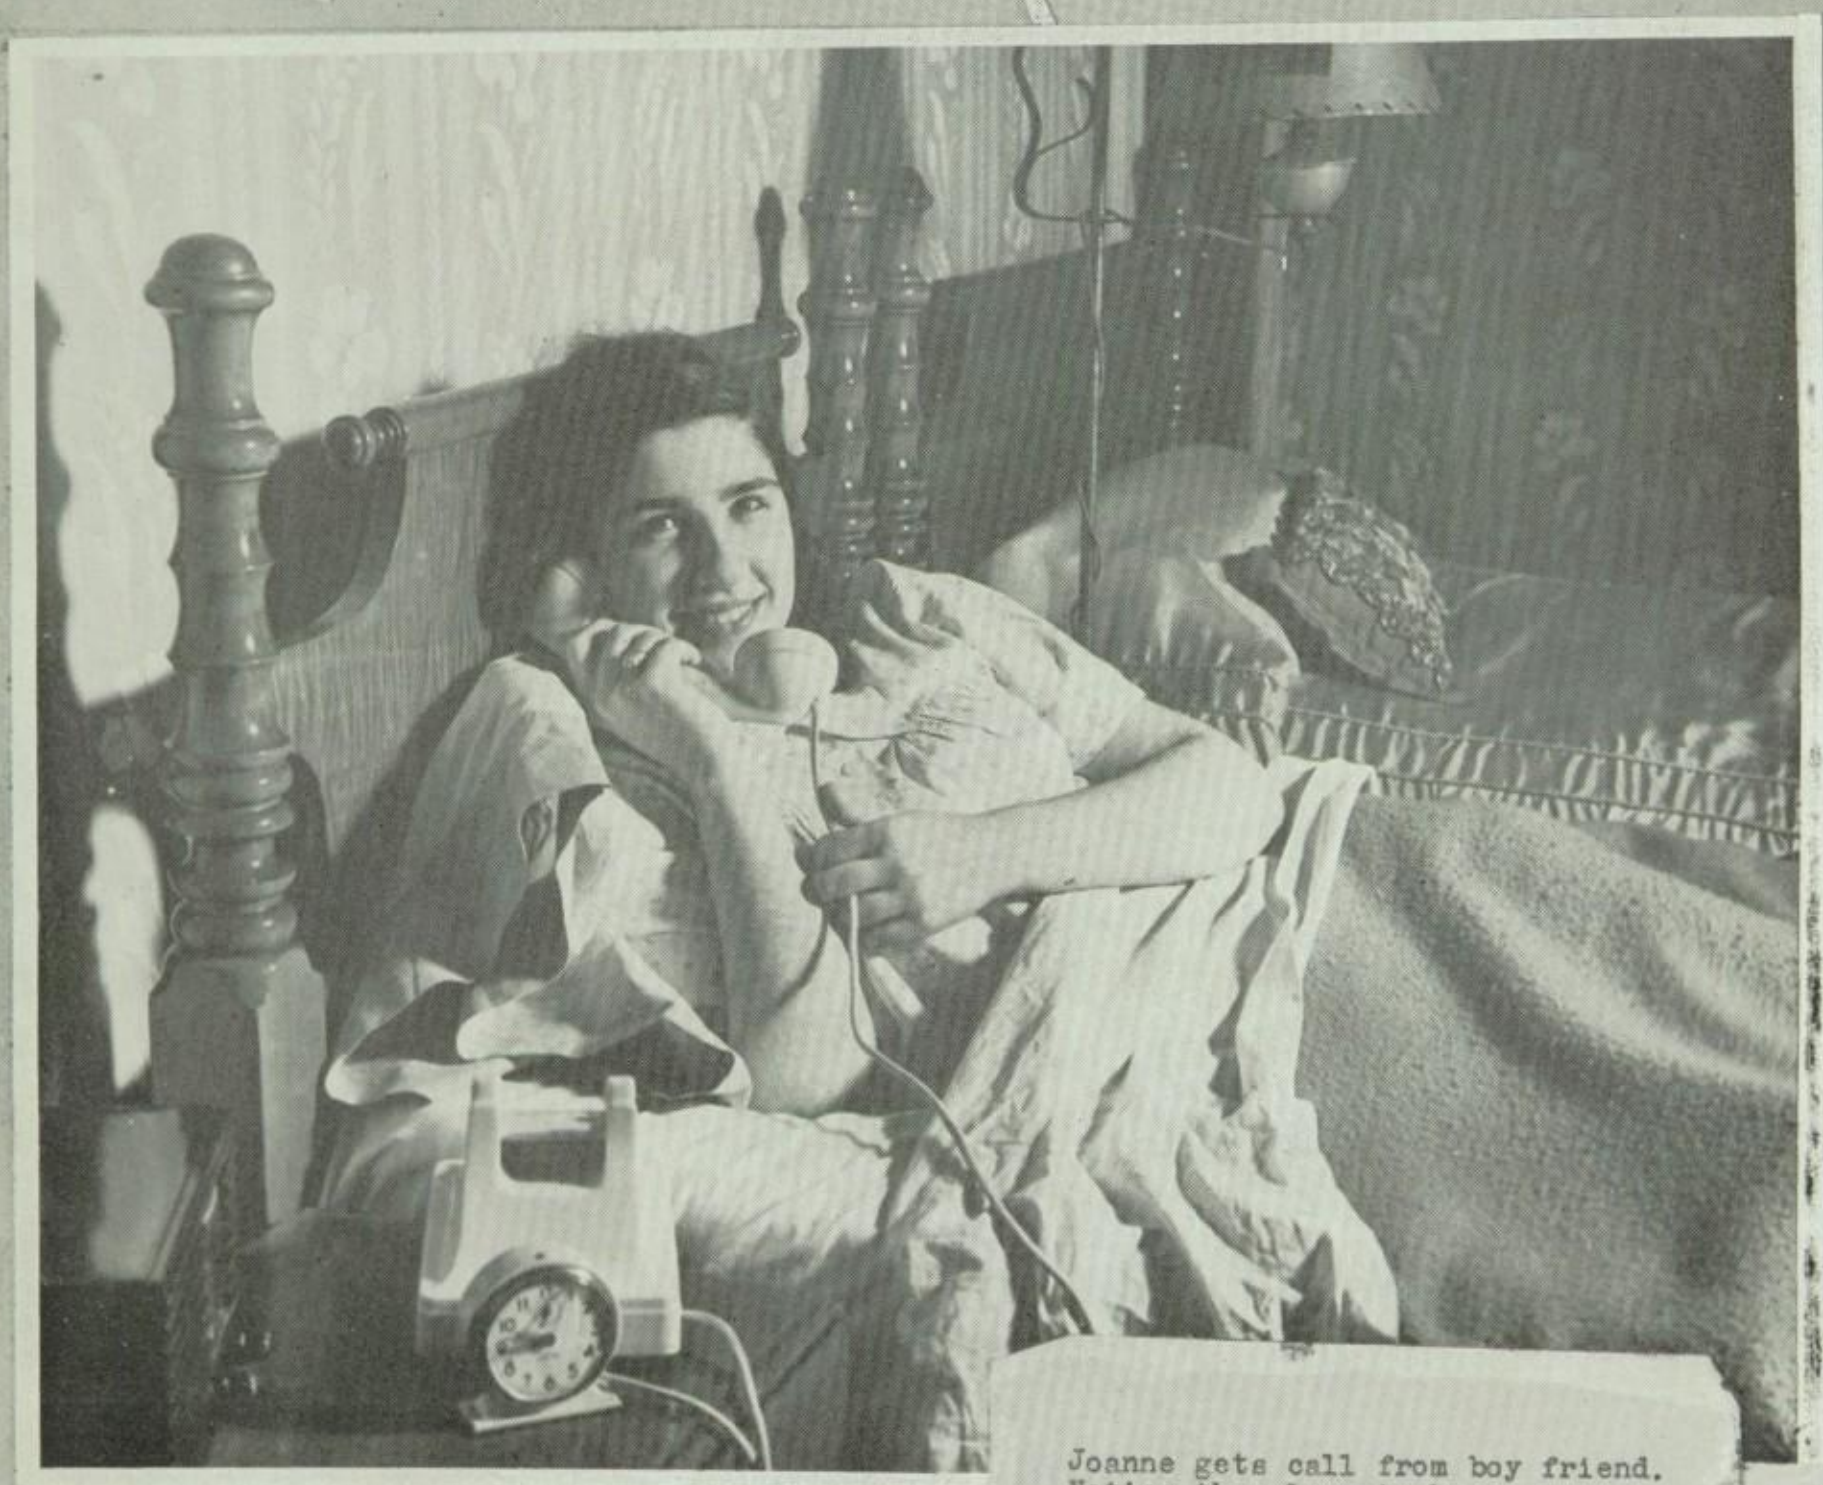

There is nothing very exciting about a foxhole full of ice water or even high explosive from shells or bombs. The only exciting things in the world are matters of high meaning. There have been some exciting moments in the military history of the United States, but the long social history of the United States is much more exciting and meaningful. In that social history the progress of the American system of public education still remains for me the most dramatic story. The public school of the United States in its origin and development has been the greatest practical instrument of free men in this hemisphere. In the future the public school system will be a source of new concepts of freedom, a principal weapon in the never-ending battle against ignorance and ill-will. To increase the esteem in which the great enterprise of public education is held among our people is a task of tremendous responsibility and honor. While we work at little everyday jobs in education, let us always remain conscious and proud of that great and exciting meaning of education. Right now, soldiers and battle heroics seem important. They are only as important as they were always—important because they are necessary consequences of badly educated human groups. The crucial and transcendent task is better education of those groups. Perhaps this sounds commonplace to you. To me, about to see very soon my seventh major engagement, it is the one belief which stirs my blood more than bugles . . .

Girl Gets Date for Senior Ball. Joanne Axtell, chosen by the Sawyer photographer as a typical Saugerties High School Senior, is shown experiencing the "thrills" that most high school girls enjoy in connection with the annual ball.

Joanne enjoys a late, peaceful sleep on the morning of May 1.

Joanne gets call from boy friend.
Notice the gleam in her eye.

While Joanne is at the beauty shop, Rudy visits the local Flower Garden to secure the "must" in a corsage. Rudy has a business-like look about him.

Joanne gets her hair set by Flora. She seems to have a worried look.

The happy couple is seen entering the foyer of the high school building.

Joanne and Rudy enjoy

Summer Occupations

The summer of 1944 saw a large number of Saugerties High School students at work, in fact there were mighty few who didn't have a job.

The occupations of the young folk varied from farming (see below) to work in the local paper mills, employment at the R. C. A., working in the bakeries, gas stations, on ice wagons, and at a great variety of other jobs.

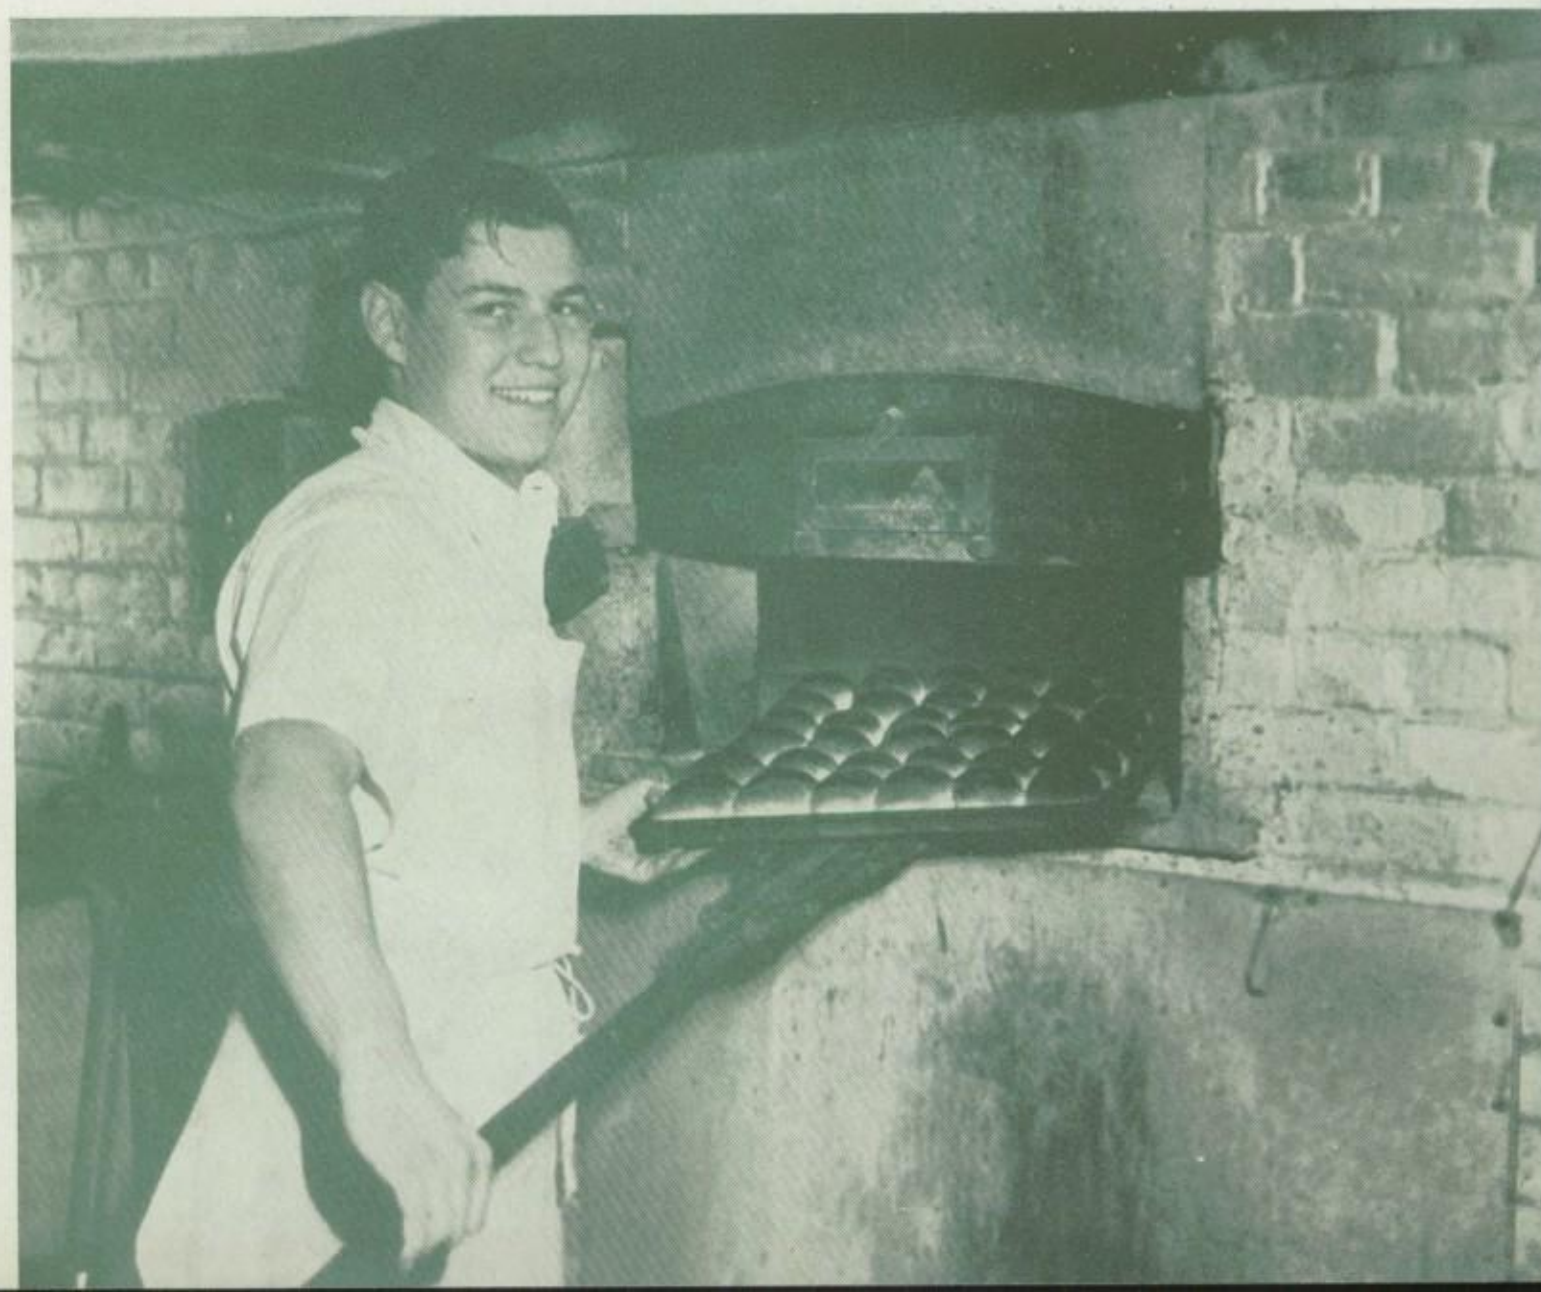

Here we see Rudy Wasserbach riding the iron horse on the Rusconi farm at Katsbaan.

This is Dick

Throughout the summer the two Genthner boys helped to supply hungry schoolmates with bread and rolls from their father's bakery. They successfully refrained from putting glass in the buns.

This is Glen

Dick Snyder helped to relieve the man power shortage by working at the Diamond Mills. He is shown with a stack of paper. How Dick has changed since September!

Some of the opposite sex also toiled in the Diamond Mills. Here's Frances Wolferstiege hard at work in the folding room.

Hildegarde Hovan beautified the women and girls of Saugerties in her position as assistant hair dresser at Meta's. She is shown giving Doris Staccio the benefit of her skillful hands.

During the strain and stress of war, Johnny Alexander, our local ice man, helped everyone to keep cool.

We have additional pictorial evidence that another high school student had enough sense to work for his family, as is shown in this picture of Alva Cody.

Many Saugerties girls worked in the new R. C. A. plant this summer. Here they gained valuable experience in assembling radio tubes. Joyce Snyder, Joyce Richter, and Robena Lavelle are shown watching Dolores Bach and Agnes Lawless at work.

Eileen Abeel's ambition is the nursing profession. She made a start by serving as nurse's aide at Dale's Sanitarium.

SWIMMING

The community of Saugerties offers excellent recreational facilities. Swimming ranks among the first of these. Our young people swim at the Esopus Creek, the Sawkill Creek, by the bridge in Mount Marion, along the shores of the Hudson, especially at Malden, and at many other places including the refreshing pools carved out from the foothills of the Catskill Mountains.

Two mermaids at the Sawkill in Mount Marion—our own good girls, Betty Young and Irma Utzat.

Samson about to wade across the Hudson with his burden. (Bill Swart and Luella Schlenker)

Hunting and Fishing

Hunting is good in Saugerties. The village lies on the west bank of the Hudson, yet within a distance of 15 miles to the west, one finds excellent trout fishing in the streams that flow down the sides of the lofty Catskills, and here, too, is found good hunting. Deer and bear abound.

Here we see two 1945 Seniors off to a duck hunt on the Hudson.

Here they are back already! (Sorry we couldn't get pictures of them with their machine guns in action.)

After School Activities

Life in Saugerties is full of opportunity for after-school activity. The pictures which follow show how these activities range. They picture our young folks with their pets on the farm, gathering the fruit of the harvest, hiking, and fishing in one of the nearby streams.

Here's Peg Myer on her Dad's farm at Mount Marion, feeding one of their pet sheep.

Henry Joe and Daisy gather apples at the Schroeder Farm.

Nuts to the Myer boys. (Just in fun.) Warren and Gordon taking hickory nuts away from the squirrels.

These two fellows are trying to get the corn before the pheasants find it. We wonder if they pocketed any red ears.

Does this show that a one man bicycle is better than a bicycle built for two?

We wonder if these four Freshmen were trying to get in at children's rates.

Horseback riding is popular in Saugerties. Many have to go to the riding academy to get their mounts but these two girls, Thelma Dederick and Gladys Oberg, are fortunate in having their own.

Christmas Season

The young people of S. H. S. welcome Christmas with enthusiasm. Its coming means festive decorations, Yuletide parties, Christmas music, and a Christmas program in assembly, followed by the ever-awaited holiday. Here at the foot of the Catskill Mountains, winter sports help to make the Christmas vacation days gay and healthful.

Frank Blood brings in some pine branches to help decorate the halls.

Peg Myer and Betty Bitterman help decorate the halls.

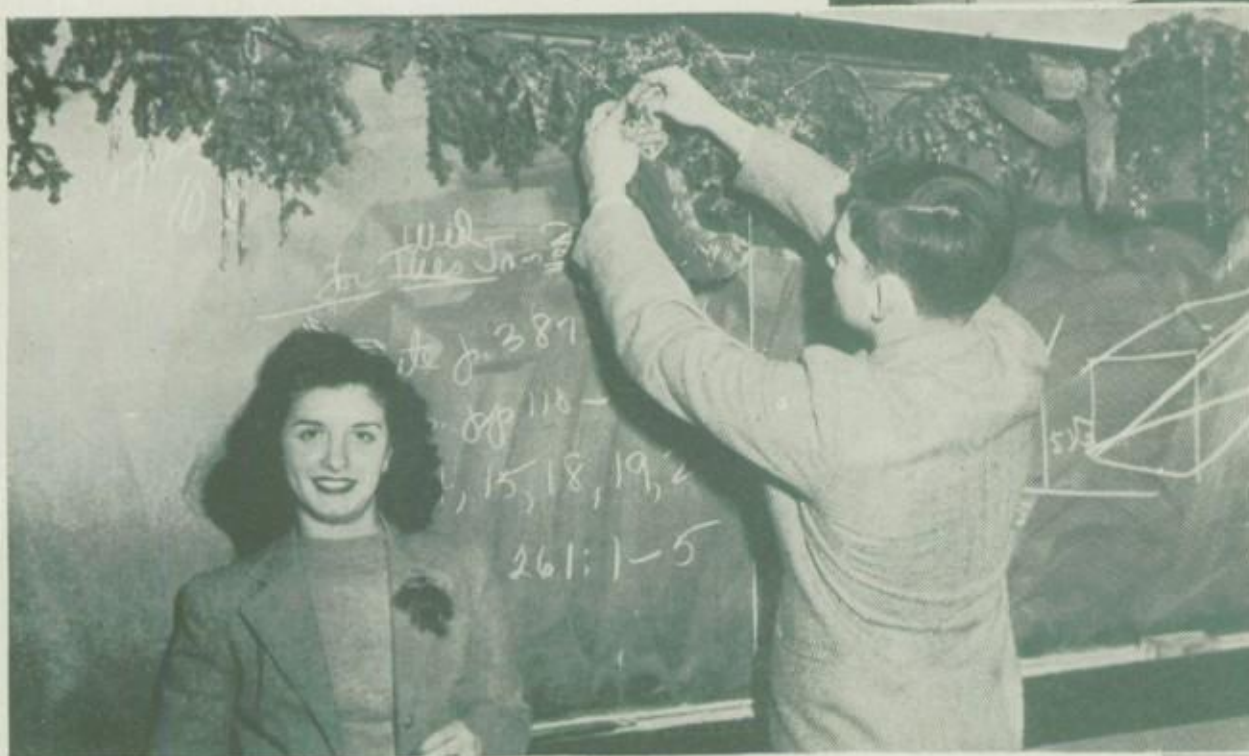

Janice Martin puts Santa on the homeroom window.

It is traditional for Saugerties High School to have three Christmas stories told at the Christmas Assembly. These speakers are elected by their class members. Here are Anne Thornton, representing the seniors; Glenford Genthner representing the juniors; and Betty Cahill representing the sophomores.

The French Class at S. H. S. sing carols at Christmas time. Here's part of the French I class in a corner of the language room.

Grace and Leon strive to make the math room look Christmas-like.

Juanita and Joyce singing the Cantique de Noel at the candlelight sing of the language department.

Social Life in S. H. S.

Social life in S. H. S. is enhanced by our Victory parties. The first of these parties was held in the fall of 1942. Since then there has been one nearly every Friday evening when no other school activity was occurring. The Victory parties are open to all students of the township above the seventh grade. S. H. S. clubs act as hosts for these parties.

Another social event of the year is the Hallowe'en party sponsored by the Junior Class. This has been an annual occurrence for a number of years.

SOCCER

Saugerties High School plays quite a bit of soccer. It is a better game than most people know. Our team has had considerable success. In the fall of 1943 they won four victories and suffered one defeat. Last fall, 1944, they won four victories, were defeated once, and tied three times. But the best part of this game is the playing of it. It makes for mental and physical keenness; it builds consciousness of the value of teamwork, and yields to each individual player a thrill in healthful out-of-door competition, all of which is made richer by good coaching, competition with neighboring schools, good refereeing, and playing to win.

Some new members on the 1944-45 faculty watch a soccer game.

Some glimpses of the game.

Saugerties--Winter Wonderland

Saugerties has everything that the winter sports fan craves—ice skating, skiing, tobogganing, snow shoeing, hiking. There are gentle slopes for the neophytes and challenging elevations for the experts.

Happy landing—Janet, Mary, Joyce, and Margie.

Three snow maidens—Betty DeCicco, Lorraine Owens, and Helen Swart.

Joan Hawk heads for the "North Woods."

Mary Peters pauses on the trail.

NOON LUNCH AT S. H. S.

Under the direction of the Supervisor of Homemaking, Mrs. S. H. Stutchbury, approximately 150 students enjoy a daily hot lunch.

Cook Gustav Utzat prepares the inevitable onion for the noon lunch stew.

C h e f Utzat

ladles out the stew as Mrs. Stutchbury, (extreme r i g h t) Homemaking Supervisor, watches.

Eleanor Husted hands out a big apple to each hungry student.

Faculty keep up their strength by drinking milk.

They seem to like it.

Dear Readers,

On the following pages, we are proud to reproduce the photographs and snapshots of some of our young men and women who are now in the armed forces. There were 580 of them enrolled at the time the photograph of our Service Flag was taken. Through many channels we urged parents and friends of our former high school students to furnish us with photographs. A large number responded and we thank them. A few were unable to do so for some reason or other. We did not willfully omit anyone's picture. Unavoidably we have been unable to indicate the advance in rank that some have enjoyed since the pictures were received by us.

On the following pages we are proud to reproduce the photographs of twelve of our former students who have given their lives while enrolled in the service of our country. A thirteenth, Stanley Schoonmaker, has given his life in the service since we went to press. Their parents and friends have our deepest sympathy. With the young men themselves we rejoice in the nobility of their sacrifice.

ing service. Inducted March 1943, he trained as battery clerk at Camp Melby, Mississippi. He was killed in an accident on December 19, 1943.

ORVILLE LEWIS SWEET
E. M. 1/c, U. S. N.

Having been graduated from Sauer-ties High School in 1932, he was employed as an electrician prior to joining the Navy. He joined the Navy December
13, 1933, and was assigned to the cruiser U. S. S. Marblehead. Later, he was transferred to the U. S. S. Richmond. He was discharged in 1937, with ratings of Fireman 1/c and Electrician's Mate 2/c.
After 2 years of civilian life, he reenlisted and was assigned to the U. S. S. Aircraft Carrier Wasp. Did convoy duty taking supplies to England and Malta, seeing action in the South Pacific during August and September of 1942. He was listed as "Missing in Action" on October 21, 1942, the Wasp having been torpedoed and sunk on September 15, 1942. He was officially declared "Dead"
by Secretary Knox on September 16, 1943.

GILBERT SCHOONMAKER
U. S. N.

Having left school while in the eighth grade, he worked on a farm at Ulster Park before entering the Navy. He was receiving his basic training at Sampson when he was taken ill. He died at home, October 23, 1944.

CPL. GEORGE A. GARRISON
MEDICAL CORPS, U. S. A.

Having been graduated from Sauer-ties High School in 1930, he was employed at Knaust Bros. prior to induction at Camp Upton, October 28, 1942. From there he went to Camp Barkley, Texas; Camp Beale,
California; Camp Cooke, California.
He died at Camp Cooke on January
6, 1944.

Mrs. Odell and her art students deserve a great deal of credit for the drawings that appear in this 1945 yearbook. Every drawing in this book, without exception, was made by her students. Above, we show Mrs. Odell and five of her students in typical poses.

Homemaking Classes Dream About Their Future Kitchens

HELEN SCHWARZ, First Prize

BEVERLY HAUCK, Second Prize

Armed with paste, scissors, a large model, and idea folder (furnished by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation), the homemaking girls proceeded to show that cutting-up can be fun—and profitable too. "Plan your kitchen of tomorrow, no priorities, labor scarcity or shortages," was the motto. Attractiveness and convenience-for-working were the goals. Almost one hundred cheerful model kitchens resulted, making the task of selecting a first prize winner, (with a twenty-five dollar war bond as an added attraction), a real job.

SALUTATORY

This year we are afforded a greater privilege in welcoming you to our commencement exercises than any previous class. We are fortunate that our country has not been devastated by war so that any of you have been prevented from attending these exercises. Our nation has fought many difficult battles to protect this right. Now before us, the class of 1945, stand the even greater battles of the post-war era. Our formula for winning these battles is in our motto: "In ourselves the future lies." We are the citizens of tomorrow and we must make the greatest possible effort to build a fitting and glorious future.

We have been prepared and encouraged by our teachers, parents and friends, and now we feel that we are due to open the door of life, step over the threshold and advance into the future.

by MARY EMERICK

VALEDICTORY

Tonight, the class of 1945, trained for the problems of its life ahead, meets for the last time as a body. We say farewell to our school life as we prepare ourselves for the difficulties of the post-war world.

One of the primary problems of this world is that of achieving world peace. Any successful plan for world peace must take into consideration every individual. Any plan that overlooks the individual is doomed to ultimate failure. We are thankful that our country leads the world in protecting every American and his rights. We are also thankful to our public schools and our churches for the parts they have had in making America what she is in this respect. We hope that we, as a younger generation, may have a leading part in making America an even greater nation than she is by helping develop a stronger interest in each individual. If we can do this, we feel that we can have a definite and important part in making world peace successful in coming years.

Of equal concern to us are the national post-war problems. We wish to achieve an economic system under which everyone may have employment. The complications of this problem are many, but if we can obtain this goal, America will continue to thrive and prosper.

The problems of the community are an integral part of the problems of the country and the world. We wish to maintain all the industry of Saugerties on a peace-time basis, while providing wholesome, constructive recreation for the young people of the community.

In saying farewell to our school-life, we feel that if we are trained to take our part in international, national and community life, our years in Saugerties High School will indeed have prepared us for our future life.

by DAVID SMITH

CLASS POEM

In ourselves, the future lies,
Just beyond the bend
Of consciousness.
Tomorrow's suns anew will rise
To see us make an end
Of childishness.

In ourselves, they are contained—
The dreams, the hopes, the glory
Of our years.
In us must be the thought ingrained
To mock the idle story
Of all fears.

It is there before us now;
Our life to be is seen—
Ahead it lies.
To go ahead, we know not how,
To do, not think or mean,
Is ours. We rise.

"COMING IN ON A WING AND A PRAYER"

We are indebted to Lt. Ben Sanford for the pictures below, taken in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

Here is Ben Sanford with Gabe Vozdik, another former S. H. S. student, along the shores of Sicily.

This is a picture of Ben having supper with a Sicilian family. He had gone fishing with the head of the house, who sits at his left. (Ben reports that the piece de resistance, a fish which they had caught that afternoon, was served without benefit of head or entrails being removed.)

Here's Ben with two pleasant looking Sicilians.

Here Ben is being roughed up by the MP's. Note St. Peter's Cathedral in the background.

Ben and companion among ruins in Rome.

Here's Ben and companion on Mussolini's balcony, the one from which Il Duce used to address the vast hordes of Italy.

Ben and Gabe outside the ruins of the Colosseum in Rome.

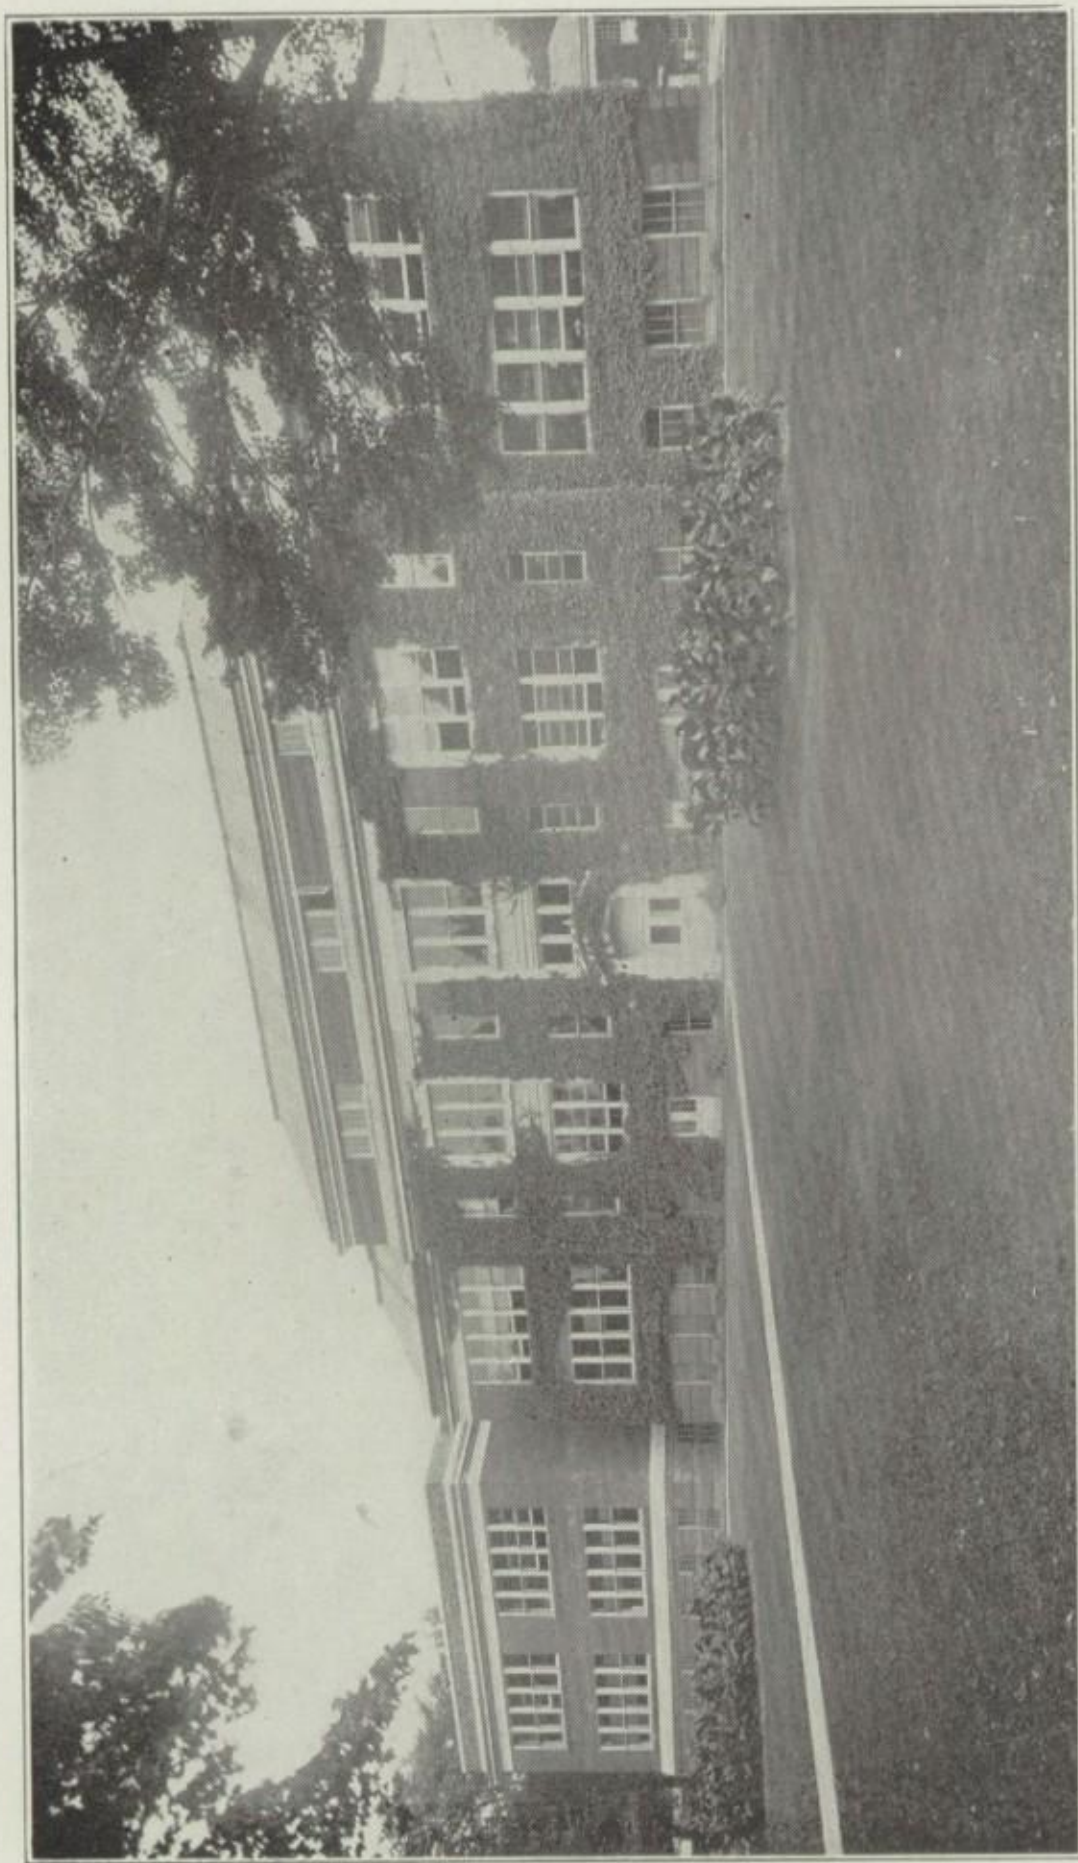

Ben took this snap of a badly-wounded airplane pilot being removed to an ambulance.

WAITING

I heard an April bird at dawning sing
 His songs. And I was glad the tales he told
 Were glad some tidings of awakening
 And joyous warmth to come in place of cold.
 I smelt the April breeze with fresh delight
 To find that spring still has its own sweet smell
 Which called me out-of-doors by day and night,
 But this I would not answer. 'Twas as well.
 I spied an April lover and his lass
 A-walking down a misty April lane
 And, suddenly, I ran on new-born grass,
 Exalted by a joy akin to pain,
 Out to the apple tree we used to pass.
 I'm waiting there. I'm sure you'll come again.

SAUGERTIES HIGH SCHOOL

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE OF SAUGERTIES AND THE SURROUNDING COMMUNITY:

Here are some reasons why the money you spend for advertising in "The Sawyer" is not wasted:

1. "The Sawyer" goes into the majority of the homes of this community that have the most purchasing power.

2. "The Sawyer" is not looked at just once but is read many, many times.

3. Your advertisement in "The Sawyer" makes friends for you not only with the older people in the community but with your future customers, the young people of today.

4. The people who read "The Sawyer" in the very great majority of cases have been and will continue to be your customers and patrons.

"The Sawyer" comes to you for an advertisement but once a year. Because of the high quality of "The Sawyer" as an advertising medium, it is able to command—it is justified in commanding—a higher rate for its space than most other mediums. "The Sawyer" does not want your advertising money as a gift. Advertising pays and an advertisement in "The Sawyer" properly written will pay you larger returns than most other mediums.

COULD BE

Mr. Parsons: "Why did the Pilgrims use soft soap?"

Student: "You make more friends that way."

HOW COULD YOU?

Miss Winter, to Ann Nollet: "Describe and illustrate the perfect tense."

Ann: "I go to school, I had gone to school—that's perfect."

OH!

Definition of a Praying Mantis: "A religious bug."

SOUNDS O. K.

If this kills Mr. Parsons, M. J. is sorry:

ENGLISH WITH A DEFT TWIST compatible — come-pat-a-bull (but not with red on).

vendor—that's something over the wheel of a car.
sparse—female sailors.
detest—what they give you in school.

BRIGHT STUDENT

Miss Walker, in English Class, asked what the class connected with Robert Burns, expecting an answer about the literary period.
Student: "Cigars ! ! !"

ELIMINATE NEGATIVE

Mary Jo's explanation of what the predicate said to the adjective:
"Don't change the subject."

HANG IT ALL

Bill M., in English Class, told about a boy who tried to hang himself and the rope broke and he fell and cracked his skull.

Miss Sployd: "That's a case of success and failure ! !"
